PETER'S PENCE (24th JUNE): The Second Collection today is one of the oldest offerings in the Church. It is English in origin, begun by King Alfred in Anglo-Saxon times, before the Norman Conquest. It spread on the Mainland of Northern Europe; it is a personal gift to the Pope himself, and is not for the upkeep of the Vatican. The Pope uses it to help his own favoured charities.

OUR LADY OF PERPETUAL SUCCOUR ANNUAL NOVENA, Tuesday June 19th – Wednesday

June 27th, "I have come so that they may have life, and have it to the full." Adoration daily from 6 p.m. Mass daily at 7 p.m. Rooted in the Ten Commandments, the Church has always taught the dignity and sanctity of human life as a gift from God, and therefore always to be valued and protected. Jesus emphatically upheld this teaching (Matthew 5:21, 19:18). In recent years, the Church has once again expressed the dignity and sanctity of human life in a world where secularist and utilitarian values have gained much ground, and so many lives have been lost under totalitarian regimes, and brutal wars. In particular, two Popes have highlighted these crucial matters: fifty years ago, Blessed Paul VI issued his great encyclical Humane Vitae concerning our responsibility in regard to authentic love and the transmission of life; subsequently, St. John Paul II issued the Encyclical Evangelium Vitae "on the value and inviolability of human life."

A SWEEP & CLEAN MORNING – Tuesday 3rd July from 10am – around the church grounds to clear the leaves and the grounds. Helpers needed.

BOOKS STALL IN THE PORCH If you have any books in good condition that you no longer require (especially children's books) you can bring them in to the piety stall.
